

LAKE TAYLOR

TRANSITIONAL CARE HOSPITAL

The Future of Health Care for a World in Transition™

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

If you have been following the news, you have seen or heard that a variant of the Coronavirus has become evident in our area. At Lake Taylor, we take this latest pandemic concern seriously and are closely and continuously monitoring all matters relating to the virus. We are taking important precautions to ensure the health and safety of our patients and our staff.

Since March of 2020, our facility has observed the official directives and implemented policies set forth by the local and state health departments, the national Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and federal funding sources to which we are responsible.

We continue to enforce the longstanding procedures that have seen us through the pandemic to date:

1. screen everyone who enters the building (temperature and symptoms questionnaire)
2. provide personal protective equipment
3. restrict or limit visitation
4. encourage vaccinating, and
5. test those who are not vaccinated or show symptoms of flu-like illness

Although we have not closed the nursing units for visitation at this time, we ask potential visitors to reconsider their visit if not feeling well or have been near someone who has been sick – even if you are fully vaccinated. We continue to offer a number of alternative or virtual contact methods to reach loved ones while they are here at Lake Taylor.

Thank you for your cooperation and understanding during this evolving situation.

Respectfully,
